Mokena Fire Dist. Starts Year With Cash

Annual report of Roy Kohl, treasurer of the Mokena fire protection district, shows there was a cash balance of $334.36 on hand at the close of the fiscal year.

Total receipts for the year totaled $10,162.10 while disbursements amounted to $9,837.79.

A fire protection district is a separate governing body that levies its own taxes. In the case of the Mokena district the bulk of its revenue, some $7,500 comes from Frankfort township. A portion of the district lies in Orland township, which yielded $1,385 in taxes and $142.50 was derived from tax collections in Home township.

Mokena village board members are apparently agreed that development of the community requires extension of the water system.

A committee headed by Trustee Marvin Weitendorf has been empowered to consult with Howard Voss, of Municipal Research Associates, concerning the financing of such a program and will report its findings back to the board.

Such a program, it was pointed out, would necessitate a bond issue. When the committee and the board get all the facts and figures it is expected that the board will set a date for a bond referendum.

Village Engineer Ralph Yunker is preparing estimates now.

Mr. Voss, it was explained, is a financial consultant. He has nothing to do with the sale of bonds other than to advise the village as to proceed to its best advantage.

Voss is also consulted by school boards and other taxing bodies, it was stated, relative to the sale of bonds and the investment of funds not needed immediately after bonds are sold.

Such firms work on a percentage basis, usually one per cent or less and according to governmental units that use such services substantial savings are gained thru following their advice.

The village board is also in receipt of a letter from the Illinois Sanitary Water Board relative to a recent inspection of the sewage disposal plant. Weitendorf said that the report was satisfactory and that the plant was in good condition.

He pointed out, however, that considerable surface water appears to be infiltrating into the plant. It was brought out that Frankfort has purchased a smoke generator to use in testing its mains to determine the location of leaks. Orland Park also has such a generator and has been using it with good results, it was reported.

The state water board also spoke of surface water in its report and recommended that steps be taken to make certain that roof water and other surface water be kept out of the sanitary sewer mains. It was pointed out, however, that it is impossible to keep all surface water out of the mains but it could be kept to a minimum.

The state highway department wrote Mayor Charles Swanberg that the village plan to improve Wolf road by joining with the state in widening and resurfacing a portion of that thoroughfare would have to wait. The project cannot be added to the 1964 program, the state reported, but added that it would be given consideration when the 1965 program was made up.

The mayor also invited comment from the board relative to a clean-up campaign for the community. The mayor said he had an estimate of $652 for a pick-up of all debris, refuse and odds and ends that householders may have accumulated. The board decided to discuss the matter later this month. The last clean-up program cost the village some $300, it was said.

Trustee Hans Mueller was authorized to get bids on a heavy-duty mower for the village.

CANCEL ALUMNI DANCE

Because of lack of interest, the proposed Lincoln-Way high school alumni dance has been cancelled, it was announced by the committee in charge. The dance had been scheduled for June 27 at Bruns restaurant, New Lenox.

JET FARMING - At least that's one way to look at it if one uses this contraption, a six-row-wheel-track corn planter turned out by Allis Chalmers and sold by the man perched at the left, Erwin Yunker, of Orland Park. On the right is Loren Sass, a Marley area farmer who has used the rig and finds it is quite a labor saver. The other man is Dan Sass, a brother of Loren. The planter has been used on farms in Green Garden, New Lenox, Homer and Lockport townships. Where it saves time, it was explained, is that after a field has been plowed one does not have to disc and harrow if using one of these new planters. One just goes in with the planter and plants. It is good for soy beans too, it was said.

The seed, corn or beans, is planted under pressure that is said to make for faster germination. By using this rig, it was said, one can plant five acres an hour, which is even faster than a wife can do it. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

BETTY HELGERSEN, of Mokena, L-W graduate, was the recipient of the Elizabeth Cappell PTA Scholarship. Presentation was made by Mrs. Michael Kruk, of New Lenox, a teacher. This scholarship is given by the Mokena PTA, in memory of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Cappell, former superintendent of the Mokena grade schools. (L-W photo)

Orland Man Films Polar Bear Hunt

Lawrence Smith, former resident of Orland Park, is now with Marlin Perkins on an expedition 400 miles inside of the Arctic circle, filming polar bears for "Wild Kingdom." His films will be of Perkins' group shooting bears with tranquilizer pellets and then tagging them for the conservation department.

A second phase of this trip will be the filming of Eskimos hunting whales and seals for food. These shots will be taken off ice floes before they break up under the 24 hour sunshine or midnight sun, as it is called. All these films will be shown on TV this fall.

Lawrence will stop for a few days in Orland with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Smith of 108th ave., before continuing to Jacksonville, Fla., where he has his headquarters and does cinematography for CBS, NBC and ABC.

Summer Safety

Summer begins June 21 and brings with it special hazards. The pleasures of water sports will be enjoyed by many millions of people, and they will carry with them special dangers.

Swimming is still the chief problem and basic rules of safety should be observed always -- never swim alone, after eating or when overly tired; don't overestimate your ability and swim at protected pools or beaches, preferably under the supervision of someone trained in lifesaving techniques; never dive into unknown waters and if a boat overturns, stay with it and don't try to swim a long distance to shore.

But now water safety is more complex. Proper management of the home swimming pool is a matter of concern to many thousands of families. Skin diving, water skiing and surf-boarding are specialized sports requiring particular care and knowledge.

This summer a greater variety of water sports are available than ever before -- let's make them safer too.

Shine Off The Tax Cut

"Here we go again!"

That seems the most apt commentary that can be made on the Administration's request that the national debt ceiling -- now at an all-time high of $315 billion -- be raised by another $9 billion. If that is not done, say the proposal's supporters, the government won't be able to borrow the money it will need to pay its bills when the next fiscal year starts on July 1.

To any thoughtful person, this development should take a great deal of the shine off the tax cut. That cut was made in the face of the fact that, unless a compensating drive to reduce expenditures accompanied it, more massive deficits were inevitable. Instead of an economy program, however, the nation is offered more and more welfare state programs -- both new and enlarged.

What will come of all this? No one can say for sure -- but past identical situations have resulted in more inflation. If that happens this time, any benefits conferred by the tax cut will be eliminated and then some. The purchasing power of the dollar and living standards of the people will go downhill because of it.

You don't successfully fight a war against poverty -- or against any other undesirable condition by fiscal juggling. You weaken the nation -- here and abroad -- in its very foundations.

Time To Protect Consumers Against Government

A great deal has been heard about "consumer protection" of late. That vague and seemingly innocuous phrase covers a lot of territory from so-called "truth in labeling" bills, to elaborate governmental bureaus and study groups which, apparently, operate on the principle that the housewife is something of an economic idiot who simply can't take care of herself when she goes shopping.

The head of one of this country's major merchandising organizations recently had something interesting to say about this. In his view, consumers need protection against an overprotective government. The federal government, he pointed out, now has 296 separate programs for protecting consumers. So, "The type of protection the consumer most needs is protection from the regimentation and the high costs of government itself."

It is pretty evident that if the extreme zealots of consumer protection have their way, an ever-growing bureaucracy will tell manufacturers what they can produce, retailers what they can sell, and consumers what they can buy. It would seem that we have all the laws we need to give the consumer legitimate and reasonable protection -- those 296 federal programs, remember, are piled on top of all manner of local laws and ordinances designed to keep the buyer from being misled or cheated. If there is a consumer protection problem, it is minor compared to the problem of big government with its murderous costs, and its depressing effects on the liberties of the people.

Tells Stockholders Of Plans

At the Northern Illinois Gas Company's annual meeting, stockholders voted to approve the following:

- Re-election of the nine-man board of directors;
- Two amendments to the company's Articles of Incorporation;
- Changes in and approval of the utility's employee stock purchase plan; and

- Appointment of Arthur Andersen and Co. as independent auditors for the company for 1964.

Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president, said the first of the two charter amendments provides a more comprehensive statement of corporate purposes. He said the amendment "clearly authorizes the company to engage in a broader range of activities in which gas or other forms of energy are usable." He mentioned the company's present plans to construct a ammonia manufacturing plant as an example.

Chandler said, "The amendment also permits us to finance, for others, activities in which gas or other forms of energy are usable. It provides further that authorized activities may be engaged in by the company itself, thru subsidiaries, or by participating with others. The changes will make it possible for us to participate more actively in the growth of the gas utility and other energy fields. However, no major change in our company's basic utility business is presently contemplated."

The second charter amendment increases the authorized number of shares of common stock from 12,500,000 to 18,750,000.

This restores the authorized amount of common stock to the proportionate level existing prior to the previously announced 3-for-2 stock split which becomes effective July 31.

Changes in the employee stock purchase plan, primarily to conform it with revisions of the internal revenue code, included an increase of 200,000 shares of common stock available for employee purchase.

NI-Gas financial vice-president and comptroller William J. Crowley told stockholders that the company's entire customer file, now totaling about 850,000, is updated daily on the new Honeywell high-speed computer.

THOT

By Glenn Logun

The next time the haberdashers hold a national convention it is our suggestion that they do something about the date of Father's Day. It is only fair that they do something for the fathers. So far the biggest thing appears to be the capitalizing of Fathers and Day.

We suggest that the haberdashers take care of the matter because it is the common belief that they started it in the first place in order to compete with the florists and candy makers who had a nice thing going in Mothers' Day.

Of course, everyone has gotten into the act now and if mother gets fobbed off with a couple of flowers or a box of candy these days she has a legitimate complaint and one that the retailers will be very glad to take care of in liberal fashion.

Father fares better than he did before, chiefly due to stretch sox. Used to be when all sox were sized that father had a difficult time in getting a proper fit. One would think that his loved ones, the members of his own immediate family, would know his sox size. But that doesn't seem to have been the case. From the vague replies to questions about size, reported by investigators, few had any real knowledge of just how big father's foot really was.

The result of this lack of knowledge is that the purchasers would settle for 11 1/2 and should that size be exhausted would be willing to go a half-size either way.

Somehow or other few ever went as high as 13, whether because of some deeprooted superstition or the idea that 13 is pretty big, whether sox, shoes or ring size.

Actually, it doesn't really matter what size sox one buys dear old dad. These stretch kind are the most convenient, of course, for pop and the giver, but it isn't really necessary.

You see, the big idea is give the old man a little something to let him know that for a day, at least, he rates. If one should, by chance, get the proper size sox it would be out of the ordinary and doubtless dad would remember the date for years to come.

"Oh yes," he would say if something came up that involved a date, "that was in 1964, June, 1964. I remember it well because that was the year I got a pair of sox for Fathers' Day that were right on the money for size. . . only time I ever remember it happened."

There are men, in some lands, maybe even in this land, who never wear sox. They probably don't know about Fathers' Day either and that is all to the good too, because if they don't wear sox there would be no point in having Fathers' Day.

Sox make a mighty fine Fathers' Day gift. They aren't too costly, they are light and easy to carry and the size is immaterial. A shirt now, is different. Get a 13 shirt for a 17 neck and something's gotta give. Conversely a 17 shirt on a 13 neck looks like an ad for a famine.

But who sees whether sox fit. Either the wearer's toes are sticking out if they are too small or the toes of the sox are folded over if they are too large.

If the department of commerce -- the U. S. Department of Commerce that is -- ever gets around to making a survey along these lines it probably would reveal that 99 and 99/100 per cent of gift sox are too large, so American males can be lumped into two main categories -- the kind that wear the toes of their sox turned up over the tops of their toes and the kind that wear them turned under.

Fathers' Day should be more than one billing month after Mothers' Day if he is going to do much better than sox.

Just when to book it is a difficult problem. Of course there are numerous occasions when one might include Fathers' Day. Say Arbor Day -- give dad a tree to plant -- or Columbus Day when one could give him a spaghetti dinner or an old navigation chart. Thanksgiving day has possibilities but that is getting close to Christmas.

And it would never do to have Fathers' Day and Christmas at the same time. Sox are standard gifts for dad on Christmas as well as Fathers' Day, so Pop wouldn't know whether he was getting something for his day or Santa Claus was responsible.

Anyway, happy Fathers' Day to all you guys with offspring -- may your sox fit!

Saturday, June 13 at 3 o'clock in a ceremony at Congress Street Methodist church in Lafayette, Ind., Miss Patricia Ellen Deardorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Deardorff, became the bride of Lt. Leonard William Senglin, son of Leo Senglin and the late Mrs. Senglin, formerly of Mokena.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Barton Fletcher.

The former Miss Deardorff wore a gown of silk organza. The fitted bodice and short sleeves were of peau d'ange lace which also enhanced the front of the controlled skirt. A detachable lace court train extended from the waistline and was framed by folds of organza. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a double-tiered lace crown embellished with seed pearls and crystals. Her flowers were white rosebuds and stephanotis, surrounded by english ivy and cascading down in streamers.

Attending the bride as matron-of-honor in a floor length dress of copen blue silk linen was Mrs. David W. Plantenga. The bridesmaids, who were dressed identical to the matron-of-honor were Mrs. Donald W. Jordan of Los Angeles, an Alpha Omicron Pi sorority sister of the bride, Miss Nancy Cooper of Lafayette, a cousin, and Miss Janet Hancock of West Lafayette. Their headpieces were fashioned from the same material as the dresses, into a small single ring.

Their flowers were a cascade of stephanotis and ivy. Miss Linda Homerding of Mokena, niece of the bridegroom, dressed in a floor length dress similar to the bridesmaids, was flower girl.

Donald W. Jordan of Los Angeles, attended Lt. Senglin as best man. The ushers were Rolland Wald, III, of Indianapolis, Ind. and Gary L. Mees of Bloomington, Ind., both Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity brothers of the groom and David W. Plantenga of Kokomo, Ind.

The bride is a graduate of Jefferson high school in Lafayette and Purdue university. Lt. L-W Gets $10,000 For Gifted Pupil Programs

Lincoln-Way high school received $10,000 grant from the Illinois state department of education to assist them in developing a gifted program. A school must qualify for these grants under the condition that they develop curricular changes suitable for educating gifted or academically talented students. Twenty teachers, or approximately 40% of the Lincoln-Way staff, are involved in the development of such curricular modifications. They represent the English department, science department, math department, social studies department.

Dr. William Nesbitt, professor of education at Northern Illinois university, has been appointed to serve as project director and consultant. He is currently engaged in working with the L-W staff in evaluating the present program, as well as providing ideas for the development of the new program. The project calls for the development of a school wide curriculum for all students. The coming school year will be used as a pilot project and will involve a great deal of experimentation. By 1965-66 the high school plans to implement this project into the program.

Progress reports will be made to the community as the project progresses.

May Was A Warm Month In Chicago Weather Region

(CNS) May was the second warmest May in the records of the Chicago weather bureau, with an average temperature of 66.0 degrees, exceeded only by 67.1 in May of 1962, the U.S. Weather Bureau announced.

However, it exceeded May, 1962, with a record daily maximum average of 77.5 degrees compared to 77.0, although this May had only three days when the mercury went over 90, reaching 92 on the 18th, 22nd, and 23rd, compared to seven such days in May 1962.

It was also drier than normal, with 1.74 inches of precipitation at the official Midway Airport observatory, which is 1.99 inches below normal. At O'Hare Airport, the rainfall was 2.26 inches, and the rainiest spot measured in the area, at Howard and McCormick, showed only 3.02 inches, still .71 inch below normal.

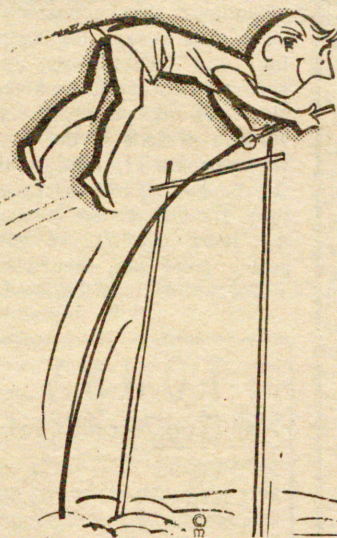

Driest spot was 79th and Lake Michigan, with 1.19 inches, followed by 126th and St. Lawrence with 1.33 and 351 West 104th street with 1.47.

Those living near the lake had it cooler if not as wet, however. The average temperature in Grant Park was only 63.5 and the average maximum 71.7.

Thunderstorms on the 8th caused widespread wind damage, with several funnel clouds seen and wind gusts up to 66 miles per hour at Midway, and with power lines down.

"If you're ready for the better things in life, you're ready for electric heat"

(and the rates are down 50% since 1958!)

That's Bob Appel talking. His RCA Associates, Inc., have built more than 600 homes in the North Aurora area.

Like an ever-growing number of his friends in the building trades, Bob Appel believes that electric heat is today's great home improvement.

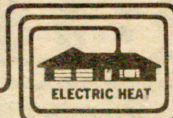

And, if you are ready for the better things in life, no other heating system at any price comes close to giving you all the benefits of electric heat.

It's clean, safe, the most comfortable heat by a wide margin. Separate thermostats let you control the heat in every room. And because electric heat burns no fuel, there's nothing to create dirt, dust, and fumes. Walls, ceilings, curtains, and furniture stay clean longer. And there's little or no maintenance.

Besides—what else can you think of that costs 50% less today than it did in 1958?

Police Urge Homeowners To Guard Against Burglaries

Area police are joining with the Illinois State Police Association to awaken the public of the need to guard against burglars and sneak thieves. To this end they are making a special effort next week to emphasize the seriousness of the crime.

Statistics show that burglaries account for 44% of the total major crimes in the country.

Last year the total dollar loss of these burglaries came to $200-million.

Summer time appears to be a good season for burglars and sneakthieves, apparently because houses are left open and untenanted at various periods of the day. When people are working in the backyard, for instance, they should see to it that the front door is locked, police point out, otherwise a sneakthief may take advantage of the opportunity. Then there are the vacations in which homes are left unattended.

Here are some suggestions police recommend householders take before leaving on vacation:

"Use good locks. Don't rely on cheap door locks to protect your home and valuables. Pin tumbler cylinder locks or locks with a dead-bolt mechanism are most effective.

"Have one or two lamps burning during the evening hours. This can be easily done by using an automatic timer on lamps or making arrangements with a neighbor to turn them on and off each evening. Lights burning all night or day and night fool no one.

"Be sure to discontinue deliveries during your absence. A call to the dairy is safer than a note left for the milkman. The post office will hold your mail, too. Have your newspaper forwarded to your vacation spot.

"Tell one neighbor you are leaving, ask him if he'll look after things for you in your absence -- sweeping up, cutting the lawn, picking up circulars, etc.

"Use safety latches on all windows. They'll allow the windows to be opened far enough for proper ventilation, but not enough for someone to enter.

"Notify the police department when you're leaving, where you can be reached in an emergency and when you expect to return."

End Hearings On Rock Island Fare Increase

(CNS) - Hearings ended Wednesday on the proposed fare increases on the Rock Island Suburban commuter trains.

The railroad claims it is losing $800,000 yearly at the present time and hopes to improve their financial status by the proposed increases.

The proposed increases would involve:

A 10% increase on weekly and monthly commutation tickets; a 20% increase on one-way round trip 10 and 25-ride tickets.

The final court order, according to Rock Island attorney Theodore Desh, will probably be issued in about thirty days.

on wheels!

In Trip Plans Include Some Extra Dollars

If you're planning a family vacation by car this year, you had better figure on including a few extra dollars in your highway budget, according to Curtis F. Proud, director of travel for the Chicago Motor Club. "The Chicago Motor Club now estimates an average vacation budget of approximately $40 a day for each couple driving 300 miles daily," he said. "This compares with the $36 estimate of a year ago."

Proud said that the major reasons for the increase are the higher costs for food and lodging. Car operating costs have held steady, he adds.

On the basis of reports from American Automobile Association field reporters who cover more than one million miles annually inspecting hotels, motels, and restaurants, Proud recommended the following on-the-road daily budget for the average vacationing couple:

Car operating costs, $9; overnight accommodations, $9.50; food, $12; tips, $2.50; admissions and amusements, $2.50; and souvenirs, incidentals, refreshments, and emergencies, at least $4.50.

Proud stressed that these figures represent average expenditures and points out that it is possible for some couples to spend considerably more than the $40 a day average, and for others to spend less than this figure.

EXPERTS—Riding high on the shoulders of expert water skier Jim Boyd is his pretty piggy-back passenger, Carol Thompson. The duo makes a sharp turn during an outing at Cypress Gardens, Fla. Try this maneuver on your vacation and we guarantee a good dunking.

He suggested the following dollar-stretching devices for the economy-minded motorist:

Drive during the early part of the day and stop in the late afternoon when you'll have plenty of time to find the type of accommodations you wish at a price you can afford to pay; check in advance the cost of admission to tourist attractions; and, if possible, plan your trip during the spring or autumn instead of during peak travel seasons when roads and overnight accommodations are crowded and prices higher.

THE BARE LOOK—Most popular swimwear style for '64 is the two-piece cotton suit. The ruffled camisol top and briefs are of white eyelet posed over polished cotton in a contrasting pastel.

Elliott Has Big Night On Joliet Midget Oval

Ray Elliott, the hard driving pilot from Lockport, captured the lion's share of the purse at Joliet Memorial stadium as he won all events for the second straight week, setting a new qualifying mark of 16:46 to top his own record of 16:58.

Driving Lou Cooper's injected Falcon race car #3, Ray was under constant pressure and some spectacular moves thru the field brought the cheering fans to their feet time and again as the veteran speed demon fought for the head of the pack.

The action filled program found numerous cars sidelined by damaging accidents and the caution flag was out at some point in each event so that no times were recorded.

A real heart stopper occurred in the fourth heat when Bud Abrahams, Chicago, flipped in front of the main stands and slid 65 feet up side down in a shower of sparks and smoke, however, the much dreaded fire did not erupt and Abrahams escaped with cuts on both shoulders and track burns.

Threatening clouds and some rain showers early in the evening did not prevent a crowd of 3300 fans from braving the elements and the new blacktop surface was soon dry and fast.

Ray Elliott leading in points with 196 is closely challenged by George Kladis,

Mrs. John J. Jeschke, Melrose Park, Ill. — "The car is good for shopping. I like the style. My husband liked the safety features of this car. He says that Ford is designed to be a safer car. As a woman, I like the fact that my family is safe in our Ford. Besides, there's plenty of room inside."

Miss Patricia Donegan, Chicago, Ill. — "Before I bought my Falcon I looked at other cars in its price class. They just couldn't compare. The only cars that came close to Falcon cost much more money. It is so much better than my Valiant."

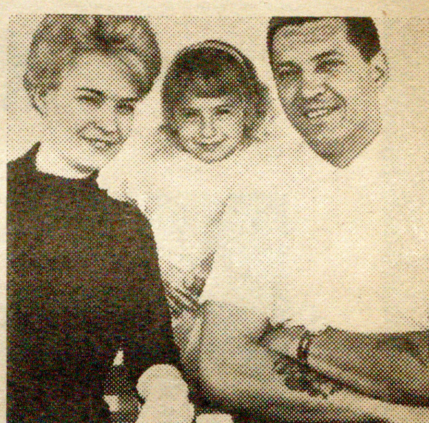

Mrs. Edward Sebescak, Chicago, Ill. — "Really pleased with performance of the car. Very smooth ride. My husband likes the shift on the floor. It is a beautiful car. We looked at lots of others, but liked the Ford best."

Mrs. Jack McNealy, Chicago, Ill. — "Our new Ford is so easy to handle and drive. Much easier than our Chevy was. My husband and I enjoy driving it very much. Gas mileage is so much better than our Chevy's. I like the way Fords are built. Fords just seem stronger and safer. I like the Ford interiors. We think that Ford has the best styling of all the '64 cars."

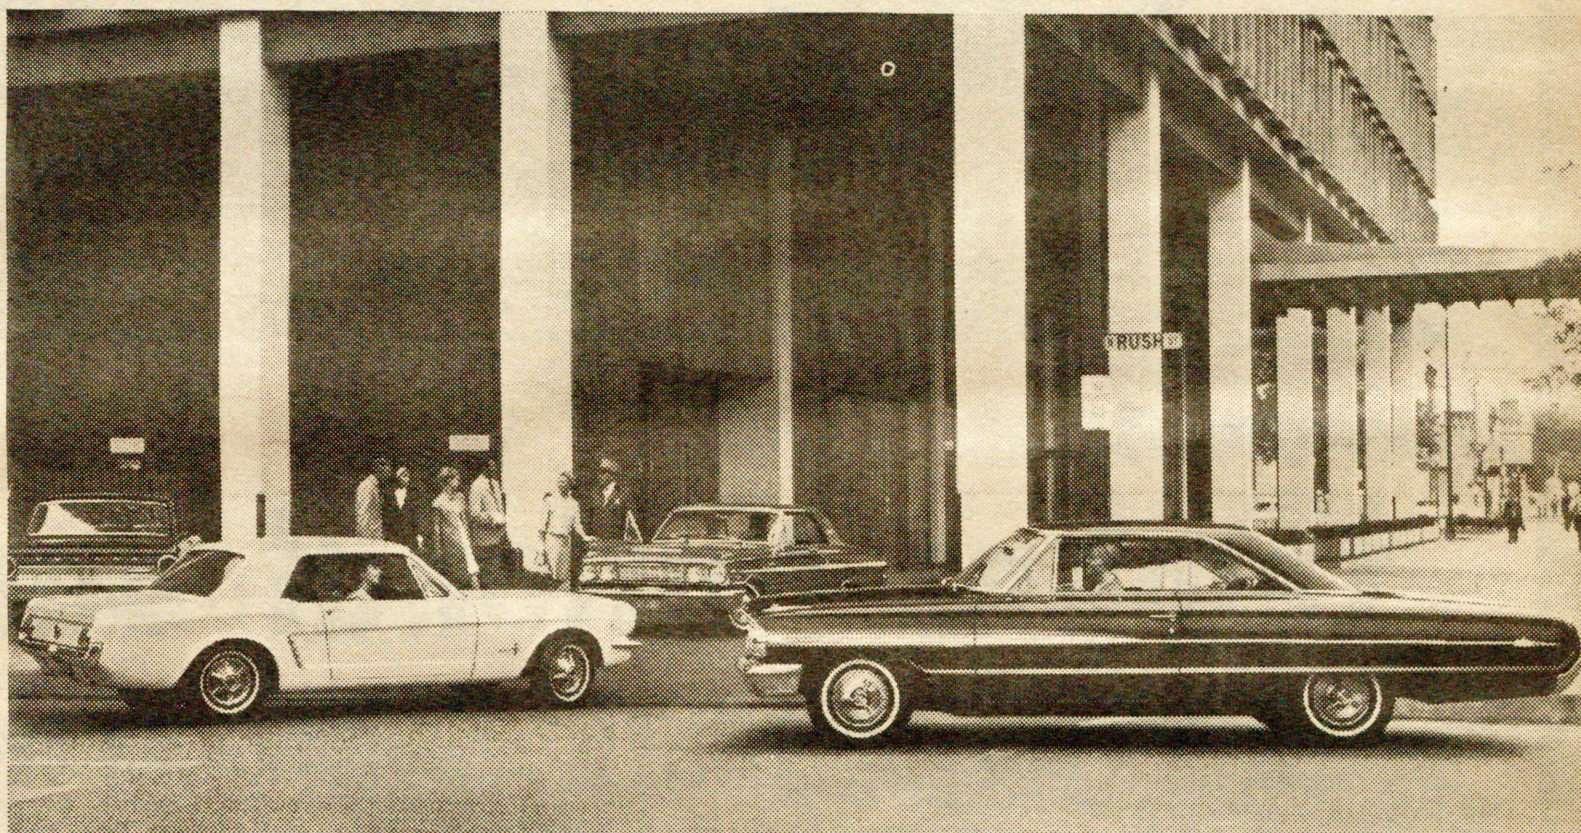

Mr. Anthony Recelski, Chicago, Ill. — "There's no competition in styling on this car. Ford's really got it. The car is comfortable, quiet, rides like a sedan. The V-8 engine gives me good acceleration and economy. My wife liked the color and I like the finish. I also like the padded dash and sun visor. It's a great wagon. But then Ford's always been known for a great wagon."

Mrs. Donald Bednarz, Chicago Heights, Ill. — "We love it! My husband likes the way it handles and the gas mileage is great. It's comfortable to ride in and to drive. We both feel safer in the Mustang than in any other car we have ever had. The brakes are wonderful. I think it is beautiful. The styling is wonderful. The interior is comfortable and very attractive."

Get Your Car Ready For That Hard Trip

If yours is one of the 25 million American families going on vacation this year, you probably will find yourself converting the family buggy into a part-time truck.

Here's a typical situation. First you'll hitch a trailer or boat to the rear bumper. Then you'll load the trunk, car top and possibly the back seat, with heavy suitcases, sleeping bags, charcoal, a portable grill, collapsible tent, jugs, an ice box and assorted sporting paraphernalia.

Pile one wife, children and yourself into the car and a few minutes later you'll be zooming across a fine new road, bumpy roads, hilly roads and winding roads that lead to, or are part of your vacation area.

Well, GOOD LUCK. You'll need it.

Automobiles aren't made to do that kind of rugged work smoothly, safely and comfortably. For example—standard automobile shock absorbers are designed to give smooth soft rides under normal highway road and load conditions but aren't made to take the load that trailers and heavy equipment put on them. Heavy vacation loads will make your car unsafe, and uncomfortable to ride in.

With just a little extra preparation, you can get your car in shape for extra loads and bumpy countryside. Here's what it takes:

1. Weight is the biggest problem for drivers of cars that are used as part-time trucks.

For comfort and safety's sake, these cars should be equipped with heavy duty load control units. Otherwise the cars will sway on curves, possibly going out of control or bottom out on bumps. Rear ends will dip, tailpipes will scrape on driveways or mountain roads, and headlights shoot up in the air.

One such unit combines a smaller than usual progressive rate coil spring, and pressurized nitrogen, which enables them to adjust automatically to varying loads and conditions.

FOR HEAVY DUTY, long distance driving, your car should be in top operating condition. The aggravation of a breakdown increases in direct proportion to the amount of freight you're carrying. A car that has broken down can be hauled into a nearby service station and repaired, but a house trailer, for example, can't be left in a repairman's garage -- and mishaps have a bad habit of happening far from trailer camps.

For that reason, you should make sure that the car has a TUNE-UP recently, that the OIL HAS BEEN CHANGED if it's old, that OIL FILTERS, RADIATORS, BRAKE FLUID and GAS LINES are unclogged.

TIRES will be subjected to extra wear and tear under heavy loads and during periods of driving over bumpy roads. Tires with rayon cord are recommended, since the strength of rayon increases as the tires heat up, studies by U.S. Army automotive experts show.

Some pressure -- but only a bit -- should be added to the tires. Between two and four pounds above normal, but no more, are recommended. Soft tires will put extra strain on your automobile's engine and cause it to burn up extra gas. Too much pressure, on the other hand, will wear down your tires quickly.

Adequate shocks, tire alignment and tire wear go hand in hand.

As the freight load your car is carrying grows, so does the strain of the brakes. For that reason, your brake system should be in top operating condition. Brake linings should be dry, free from grease or sand. Linings shouldn't be worn down.

YOU SHOULD HAVE BRAKES adjusted so that all four drums are working evenly before you begin a long trip with a heavy cargo. Uneven braking causes a car to swerve -- the heavier the cargo, the more swerve you'll get -- and can cause a serious accident.

Make sure, also, that your brake lines don't contain air bubbles which can impede braking efficiency. Step down on your brake pedal. If the pedal merely touches the floor before your brakes catch, or if you feel a "soft spot" there's probably something wrong with your brake system.

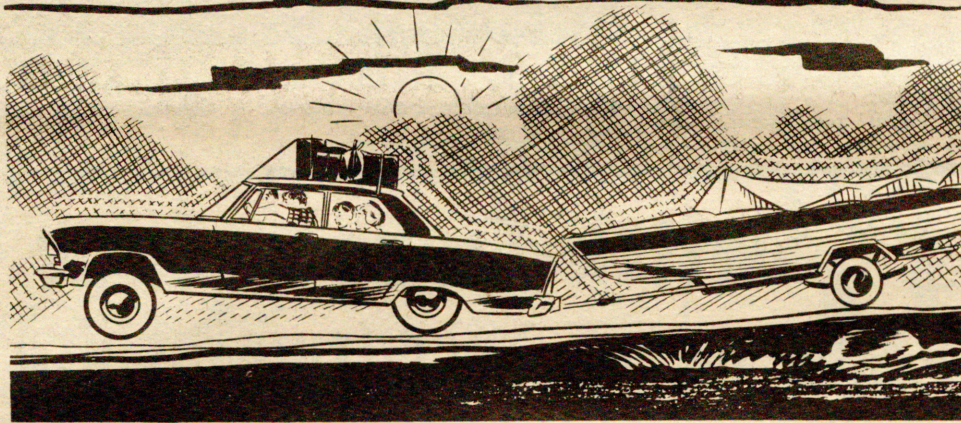

AVOID gasoline and oil additives and special "pepup" devices for your ignition system. It's tempting, when you expect to be adding a burden to your automobile's engine, to try increasing engine power. But studies have shown that most of these LANDLUBBER'S CRUISE--One of the best ways to boost the enjoyment dividends of your outboard is to give others (preferably children) a ride who never have the opportunity to do any boating. Their appreciation of the day will be contagious no matter how old a hand you are.

CAR-BOAT CRUISE--These two couples are combining the enjoyment of cruising and sight-seeing in one relatively inexpensive vacation. One couple will cruise up-river during the day to be met at a pre-arranged point by the other couple in the automobile. On the following day they will change places.

Heavy loads and tows give unsafe, uncomfortable ride and may damage car.

chemical additives and ignition devices do no good, according to an article which appeared recently in the "Reader's Digest".

Your best assurance of good engine performance are clean plugs and points, a properly timed ignition system, clean valves and good pistons. Extra horsepower, of course, comes in handy, especially when you're climbing steep hills. But even a six-cylinder will do the job, provided you remember to make use of your low gear range.

Follow these simple suggestions and you'll have a better chance of getting where you're going and back home again without mishap.

TWO FOR THE SEA — Newest fabric look in the swim is puckered cotton, shown here in a bright floral print. A colorful addition to beach life, and a bonus for vacationing sight-seeing, the two-piece swimsuit is by Sea Fashions of California.

Swimsuits Take To Cover - Ups

Note to girl-watchers: what you'll see by the sea this summer on your vacation by auto is less of the girl and more of her beach cover-up.

The new look in swimwear is an intriguing contradiction in fashion. Two-piece cotton swimsuits endorse the bare look, and the popular bikini is more daring and baring than ever. But the brief swimsuit is likely to be topped with a demure cover-up . . . in a delicate-looking but sturdy cotton. As to the new topless suit, well, this is mostly publicity.

According to the National Cotton Council, the cover story in swimwear ranges far and wide. Styles include long-sleeved shirts . . . either man-tailored or frilly; beach shifts . . . knee-length or completely covering the body from neck to toe; and blazer jackets, overblouses, cotton knit beach sweaters, and hooded parkas.

Most of the cover-ups are designed to coordinate with the swimsuit underneath . . . and all are attractive enough to be worn with skirts and long pants as well as swimwear.

For instance, one three-piece cotton beach costume features a hooded parka and a brief swimsuit with boy shorts and bra top . . . all in pink and white striped seersucker. The parka, a lightweight but long-wearing separate, can be paired with long pants for sailing, or a skirt for shopping . . . proving that the wardrobe-life of new beach cover-ups is longer and more varied than that of swimwear items in the past.

You'll see another new kind of cover-up on the beach and it's equally versatile.

It's the one-piece "romper." The girls can pull the romper over a wet suit after swimming, or wear it under a wrap skirt to town. Rompers come in dainty cottons like dotted Swiss or pleated batiste that complement the style's "little-girl" air of femininity.

In fact, swimwear designers are going all out for femininity, both in the styles and the fabrics they favor. While gingham, chambray, pique, and printed terry are popular beachwear fabrics, airy, delicate cottons are making the biggest fashion splash.

You'll probably see as much organdy, lace, eyelet, and dotted Swiss on the beach as on the dance floor. These softly pretty cottons turn up in some of the most eye-catching cover-ups by the sea.

To sum up the '64 swimwear story: although the bikini goes under cover this summer, it's sheer coverage.

CAMPERS' FAVORITE — Most popular type tent for touring vacations is the umbrella style in durable cotton canvas. It requires only a small amount of ground room and is easy to erect.

Vacationing With Baby

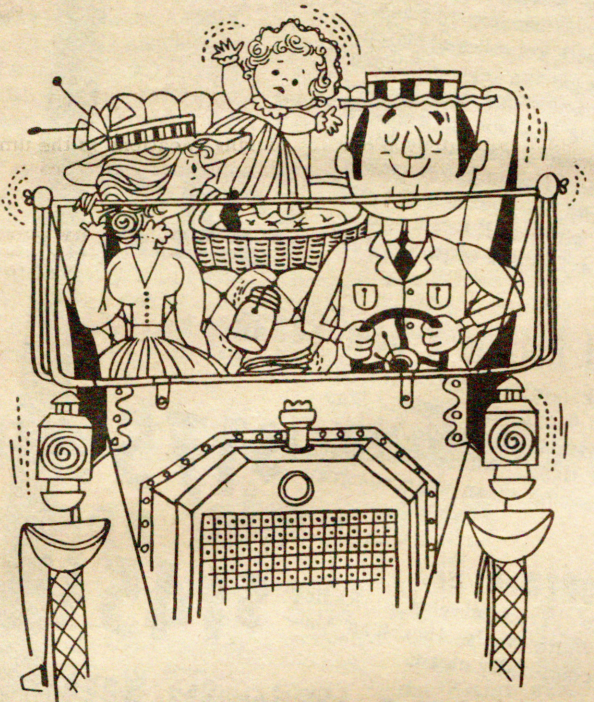

If you're planning to take baby on your vacation this summer, remember, travel methods change . . . but babies don't!

Infants born on our 19th Century frontier cried as loud, kicked as hard, and needed diaper changes as often as our bouncing babies of the 1960's.

But it was the rare frontier toddler who got to go along on a family vacation. As a matter of fact, it was the rare frontier family who took a vacation at all. If baby did get a chance to ride in the family covered wagon, he was no longer a baby by the time the ride was over -- providing, of course, he survived such hazards as Indian raids, food shortages, droughts, animal stampedes, prairie storms and the sad lack of Dr. Spock books.

Conditions were a little better for travel-bound babies of Granny's day. But, even the bounciest babes were no competition for the sorry springs of the Model T. Roadside rests were few and far between, as were sources of fresh food and milk and sanitary stop-over spots.

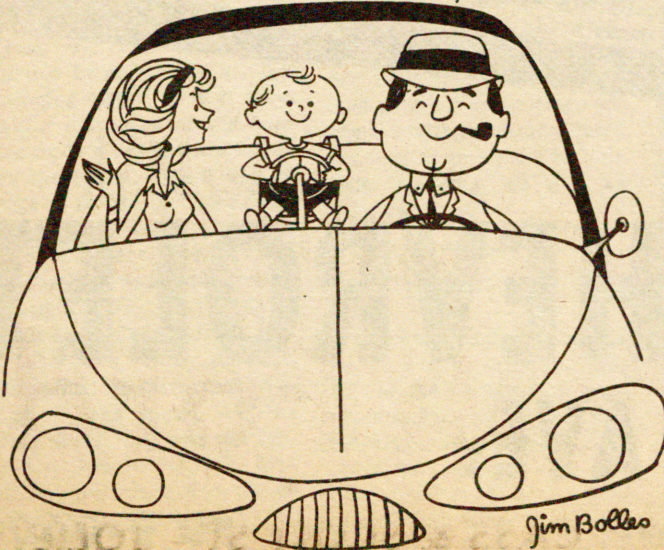

Today, however, conditions are much improved and many babies have logged thousands of travel miles before they've even reached bus-fare age. But travel with baby still requires careful preparation and advance planning.

If you plan a motoring vacation, know in advance how many miles you will travel each day, where and what time you'll stop, and whether or not adequate rest facilities will be available en route.

Keep the schedule fairly fixed for each day of the trip. Two hundred miles a day, with time allowed for a leisurely lunch and several leg-stretching periods won't tax an infant if the family stops early enough (around 4:30 p.m.) for the night.

You'll find you can keep a toddler content for long stretches of a train, plane, bus or auto trip if you've made him feel at home by taking along his most familiar toys. In a car, suitable play space or squirming space, can be provided by stacking your luggage so that it's level with the back seat. Covered with a soft quilt, the space becomes a comfortable play area.

If baby uses the back seat, without any luggage-type arrangement between it and the front seat, use a safety harness or belt. A car seat or car bed will be more comfortable than your lap -- for you and the infant.

On your list of baby supplies, include plenty of socks, drip-dry play clothes, packaged wash cloths for sticky hands and faces, a small plastic baby bath, bottles and a bottle warmer which plugs into the car cigarette lighter, a kit containing powder, lotions and soap, a first aid kit containing bandages, antiseptic, aspirin and suntan lotion, the toilet seat the child uses at home and a supply of disposable diapers.

Traveling mothers can get disposable diapers in extra large sizes -- developed because our babies are bigger than ever and because it's usually the 1 1/2 to 2-year-old child who accompanies his family on a trip. An adequate supply of the use-once-and-throw-away diapers is important because baby's tender skin must be kept immaculately clean during the summer, when he's prone to so many skin irritations.

The sanitary diapers, medicated to help prevent diaper rash, are made of soft fabric facing, absorbent padded filler and vinyl film backing which eliminates the need for plastic pants.

"Baby's skin needs extra care in the summer," advises Dr. R. J. Spahr, Director of Baby Products Research at Chicopee Mills. "A minimum of clothing, baby lotion, frequent warm baths and sunshine are all soothing. But beware of leaving baby in the sun too long. Start with two minutes the first day, divided between 'topside' and 'backside'. Increase by two minutes each day, but never exceed 30 minutes and never expose baby to the hottest sun, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Place the child on a pad on dry ground to take the sun and always keep his eyes away from direct sunlight."

AS FOR FEEDING, most mothers find that baby's appetite improves as he spends more time in the outdoors, and the infant himself will usually ask or cry for food on a pretty regular schedule. Stick to that schedule as rigidly as possible unless some digestive difficulty demands a change.

If the toddler is on a canned milk formula, fill bottles with sweetening and sterile water for several days ahead. Then, just add the milk, freshly opened, as you need it. As an alternative, you can keep a day's supply of formula in a small picnic ice box. On a long trip, disposable bottles eliminate the sterilizing problem.

If you feed out of doors, cover the nipple when you put the bottle down. An older toddler's summer meals should include as much or more protein than usual -- favorite sources are gelatin desserts and salads.

Marathon Driving Often Leads To Vacation Crashes

Marathon driving is a deadly enemy of the vacationing motorist, cautioned Matthew C. Sielski, director of the Chicago Motor Club's safety and traffic engineering department.

"Many motorists, traveling on limited time and financial resources, try to pack the maximum amount of driving into their vacation," he said. "This greatly increases the chance for a traffic accident."

Sielski pointed out that the driver who tries to set an endurance record on his vacation trip runs the risk of extreme fatigue which reduces alertness and reaction time.

He offered the following safety tips for those planning a motoring vacation.

--Start your daily trip early in the morning so that you can stop early. It's a safe rule not to drive more than seven hours a day. Longer driving stints are dangerous.

--During the trip, stop approximately every two hours for rest and refreshment. This helps you maintain your driving efficiency.

--If more than one passenger in your car can drive, take regular turns behind the wheel.

--To avoid drowsiness and highway hypnosis--constant threats on long trips--talk with others in the car or listen to snappy music on the car radio. Also, avoid heavy meals during your trip.

--Always let moderation be your guide. Remember--it's better to cover a few less miles on your trip and return home safe and sound.

Boat Hauling

Hints On Towing Your Boat

With the boating boom continuing, it's expected that more motorists than ever will use their cars this summer to take pleasure boats to vacation areas. The Chicago Motor Club estimates that more than 800,000 motorists will be hauling boats by car and urges them to observe highway safety rules.

The motor club points out that many boat owners will use trailers to haul their craft over highways, but says this increased traffic load will present no problems if owners exercise a sense of responsibility and caution in their driving.

The club offers the following safety tips to boat-owning motorists:

1. When hauling a boat trailer, drive at a slower rate of speed. Large boats add considerable weight to a moving car and longer stopping distances are required.

2. Allow extra room for the trailer when turning corners. You also should take this into consideration when pulling out to pass and when returning to the proper lane after passing.

3. Sharp turns should be taken at slower than normal speeds as the trailer may tend to broadside.

4. Make certain the trailer hitch is tight. For all but the lightest rigs, the hitch should be attached to the car frame, not just the bumper.

5. Use a safety chain between the car and trailer. This is required in most states.

6. Stop and taillights on the back of the trailer also are required in most states.

7. Use reflecting tape or reflectors as clearance markers on the back of the trailer or boat. They will give some protection if taillights burn out or become disconnected. Reflectors are required by law in most states.

8. A large boat will obscure a car's turn signals. Either install signals on the trailer or be sure to give visible and accurate hand signals at all times.

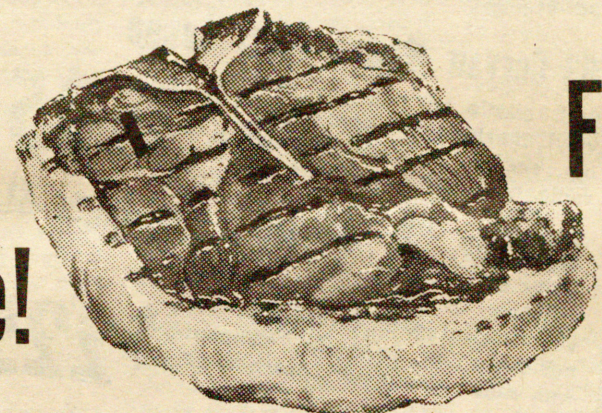

9. A boat may be damaged seriously by bouncing in the trailer cradle. If you secure your boat to the trailer by rope or straps, check periodically for looseness.

SEA COVER -- Summer swimsuits take to cover-ups like this cool and comfortable cotton eyelet embroidered style. By Jantzen, it's designed with becoming yoke front and back-button closing.

facility for expressing themselves in this foreign language.

"In my recent trip as a member of a group of 15 educators appointed by the American Association of School Administrators to evaluate the German educational system, I found that in the province of Bavaria all German children were required to take English (which is a foreign language to them) beginning in the 5th grade. There is a general pattern in European education of requiring English as a foreign language in the elementary schools. It seems to have worked well for the younger generation of Germans, Swedes, Danes, Norwegians and Belgians speak English well enough to converse with American visitors in an understandable fashion. I am very happy that our suburban Cook county schools are among the leaders in the State of Illinois in developing a good program of foreign language instruction for our elementary pupils."

County Police Checking On BarnFire

County police are still checking on the fire that destroyed a barn and 2,000 bales of hay on the farm of Miss Caroline Bentley, New Lenox township.

The fire was discovered in the early morning hours (June 9). The alarm was turned in at 12:45 a.m. Ten minutes prior to that time some members of the New Lenox fire department drove by the place. There was no sign of smoke or blaze then, they said, but 10 minutes later the barn was blazing.

The loss was estimated at about $25,000, according to Fire Chief Otto Bormet.

The barn, 50 by 100 feet, contained no electrical wiring, it was stated, and the only thing in it was the hay. Authorities indicate the origin of the blaze was due to spontaneous combustion or vandalism.

light of a two-month big change sales promotion campaign we are calling "Switch, Swap 'n Save Days", the dealer said. "We're going all out to set new records during this period."

The book, written by Abraham Lass, a well known New York educator, features a comprehensive description of college requirements and a compilation of available scholarships.

It contains a complete listing of colleges and universities in the United States, including the address of each registrar office.

"The importance of a college education for our young people becomes more vital each day," the dealer said. "We are sure this accurate and thoro documentation about present-day college education will prove significant reading to prospective college students, as well as their parents."

GREASE FIRE

A grease chute fire started at 9 a.m. Monday, June 15, at the Coffee Cup restaurant, New Lenox, but was quickly extinguished. Approximate damage was between $400 and $500, according to Fire Chief Otto Bormet.

Children, Community School Honor Benson

Ivar Benson, retiring custodian after 27 years at the Orland Park school, was honored by the community and school at its commencement program.

A sculptured bronze plaque of Mr. Benson with the inscription, "To Ivar Benson in grateful recognition of his devoted service to the children of the Orland Park School by the School Board, Administration, and Faculty, June, 1964", will be placed in the main lobby of the Orland Park building. Mr. Benson was given a replica of the plaque as a remembrance of the occasion.

Supt. Norbert Jerling, made the official presentation. He stated that because

Mr. Benson had given so much of himself to the school, this plaque would be a permanent reminder to the community of his long and dedicated service. He further stated that Mr. Benson will be missed by all, especially the children who had written and compiled in book form, letters expressing their feelings of regret and their best wishes upon his retirement.

Modest by nature, Mr. Benson was unaware of the fact that this tribute would be paid to him. He was deeply touched.

"Mr. Ben", as he is known to generations of children and adults in the Orland community, will retire June 30.

Honor Orland Park Man For Work In Boy Scouts

Joseph B. Kaiser, Orland Park, received the Silver Beaver award from Pokagon Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America at the annual dinner meeting held recently. The Silver Beaver award is the highest honor that a local council can bestow on an adult leader. At the time of the presentation, the following citation was read.

"Many Scouters in his community will testify to the fine leadership of this man. He became a member of the Troop Committee of Troop 251, sponsored by Orland Park American Legion post No. 526 in 1954. In 1955, he became Scoutmaster of this troop followed by a selection as Explorer Advisor in 1957. In 1959, he became a Neighborhood Commissioner, in 1962 an assistant district commissioner, a position which he fills today. Hundreds of boys have felt the leadership of this Scouter.

"Many units and institutions in and around Orland Park will testify as to his effectiveness and help in maintaining a good Scouting program.

"Mr. Kaiser is a past treasurer of the Orland Hills Water Association and umpire for the Orland Youth Association and an active member of St. Michael's Catholic church.

"As a commissioner for the past five years he has kept scouting in operation in many institutions. On several occasions he's had to act as temporary Scoutmaster until leadership was recruited. He has helped organize several new units in his area. His effectiveness as a commissioner has won the respect of scouting among the leaders and friends in his district."

After Kaiser was given his Silver Beaver, he was also given an orchid corsage to pin on his wife. The presentation was made by Robert Black, head commissioner.

The Kaisers reside at 13720 Elm, Orland Park.

Seek Public's Opinion On Village Water System

A survey is to be taken soon at New Lenox to ascertain the public's opinion for establishment of a central water system. The village has a central sanitary sewer system but the water supply comes for the most part from individually owned wells.

Village Trustee Chester Bowman who has been quite interested in this suggested improvement has outlined a form to aid those who will seek information in a door-to-door canvass. Trustees Robert Bishop and Don Anderson were appointed by Mayor Gilmore about 10 days ago to head this survey committee, Bowman being occupied with other programs at this time.

The form will carry the name of the person interviewed and whether it was in a home or a place of business. The address and telephone number are listed, together with the front footage of the property.

The person interviewed will be asked to say whether he will tap-on if a water system is available in 1965. He also will be asked to give his preference as to how the program should be financed, thru special assessment or by bond issue.

The form indicates that a customer could get soft water for an additional 50 cents a month. Those questioned will be asked if they would like that service. They also will be asked the depth of their wells and whether they are giving satisfactory service.

The person interviewed will also be asked if they own other lots in New Lenox and if so where and how much front footage is involved.

Mokena Zoning Board Now Has Its 7 Members

The Mokena zoning board of appeals is now of legal number. Under the law such board must have seven members, it was pointed out. The Mokena appeals board had but five members until the village board meeting June 3. At that time Mayor Charles Swanberg appointed three members, two of them to fill out the required number and one to replace Hans Mueller who had resigned.

Appointed were George H. Bills, for one year; Robert Niemann, for six years and Roy Richardson, for seven years. Members of the board concurred in the appointments.

The board also gave its approval earlier to recommendations of the zoning board. One concerned the reclassification of two lots that belong to Ralph Ordman from R-1 to B-1. Ordman is to build a new food store. Another concerned the reclassification of four lots owned by Joseph Majher in Sunny Acres (annexed to Mokena) from R-1 to B-4.

A petition to annex the Standard Oil station at Wolf and LaPorte road was approved and also one annexing Wolf road south to the two commercial buildings on the west side of the street. There is a lot just south of the new Park and Shop site that is not in the village. With the annexation of the road, however, the two commercial properties adjacent to that lot can be annexed, it was explained.

BUILDING PERMITS

Cook county has issued building permits for two garages and a carport in Orland township. John Romanik is to build a garage at 8710 W. 170th pl., value, $2,304; Kenneth Hatton is to build a garage at 16631 S. 88th ave., value, $1,800. The carport, valued at $520, is to be built at 8721 W. 162nd st., by Richard E. Kunde.

OPENS SHOP

"Old Town Antiques and Resale Shop" will open at 119 Kansas street, Frankfort, Saturday, June 20. Mildred and Hazel Walters are the proprietors of the new shop.

Grade Summer School Starts Monday

An elementary summer school program is being held at Lincoln-Way high school, from June 15 to July 17.

This program is sponsored by the Lincoln-Way area cooperative districts made up of New Lenox, Mokena, Frankfort, Manhattan, and Arbury Hills. This is the first attempt at providing a summer school in the Lincoln-Way area and as a result of the cooperative efforts of all the schools it has become possible this year.

One-hundred and twenty-five students are enrolled in a language arts and reading centered program. The administration solicited highly qualified reading teachers within the Lincoln-Way area to staff these classrooms. Mrs. Marybelle Howard, Manhattan grade school, will be teaching intermediate level students; Mrs. Madelon Meents, New Lenox grade school, will be teaching advanced intermediate level students; Arthur Mackay, Lincoln-Way high school, will be teaching advanced upper grades; Mrs. Minnie Pester, Mokena grade school, will be teaching intermediate level students; Mrs. Rita Schilling, Arbury Hills grade school, will be teaching advanced primary students; Mrs. Adeleen Warner, New Lenox grade school, will be teaching primary students.

At the completion of the summer school an evaluation will be made of its success. Future plans call for expanding the summer school offering into other areas and will include mathematics, social studies, and science.

Supt. James Ennis, of Mokena grade school; Supt. Leroy Olson, of Frankfort; Supt. Dawson, of Manhattan, and Donald D'Amico, assistant principal of Lincoln-Way high school, will share in the administration of the summer school program.

JOAN PATRICIA CONROY, Orland Park, who this year received a degree from Clarke college, Dubuque, Ia., has been given the European study award and is leaving this month for the Continent for her postgraduate work. While she will be at different places her headquarters will be the Pius Institute at Florence, Italy. Miss Conroy is a graduate of the Marywood school of Evanston and last year finished at the New York School of Interior Design with highest honors, is the daughter of Ambrose Conroy, Chicago realtor, and resides at 145th st. and 108th ave.

Revise Liquor Ordinance At New Lenox

Revision of the New Lenox liquor ordinance has been approved by the village board.

Under the revised terms the bowling alley has been granted a license to sell bottled beer, with a provision, however, that sale on Saturdays shall not begin prior to 6 p.m. This restriction was imposed because many minors make use of the lanes on Saturdays. The license fee is $150 a year, payable quarterly.

The license was granted at the request of Robert Gleason, who operates the lanes. He explained to the board that many of his customers, especially the leagues, demanded the privilege of having beer.

The new ordinance also strikes out a clause restricting issuance of liquor licenses to residents of the village.

Arbury Hills

Civic Association To Have Picnic Sunday

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Telephone 479-5740

The Arbury Hills Civic Association fourth annual picnic is to be held at the Mokena Community Park this Sunday, June 21, all day. The Civic Association will have the run of the entire park including the baseball diamond.

There will be an assortment of races for children of all ages from two to one-hundred-two. Token prizes will be awarded for the speedy ones.

The cost is $1.50 per family.

The July meeting of the First Nighters has been cancelled. The next meeting of

Ringing Bells To Greet 4th

Area villages have received communications from Gov. Kerner urging them to participate in the Let Freedom Ring movement in conjunction with observation of Independence Day on July 4.

The mayors of the various communities have joined in asking that church bells and other public bells be rung for four minutes on the Fourth as a "ringing pledge of allegiance to home and country."

the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Rose Menzer on Thursday, Aug. 6 at 8 p.m.

There was a meeting of the Byng club at the home of Mrs. Edward Hovi on Tuesday evening, June 9. The hostess prize was won by Mrs. Robert Burdett, a guest at the get together. The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Hendrickson on Tuesday, July 13 at 8 p.m.

Remember our Memorial Day Parade? That was to announce the beginning of the games of the Arbury Hills Boys Baseball league. When our sons play baseball, it should be logical to expect that we parents would turn out to cheer their efforts.

This, unfortunately, is not the case. Our boys played a game against the team from Frankfort on Wednesday evening, June 10, at our baseball field. There was a fine turnout of folks there to cheer on the Frankfort team.

There is a refreshment stand at the playing field which is open for every game in case one is fearful of starving during games.

Young Edward Hovi was taken to see the Chicago White Sox play baseball against the Detroit Tigers on Sunday, June 7. That was the day they gave baseball bats away to the boys. It was a shame, though, that two days later the new baseball bat walked out of his garage and out of the yard.

His father, the late George J., and his brother, the late Glenn Cowing, served as county judges and John C. was in the middle of his fifth four-year term when under the new judicial amendment he became an associate circuit judge on Jan. 1, 1964.

As county judge he had jurisdiction in all juvenile cases and since he became an associate circuit judge he was assigned to family court which also handles those cases involving youngsters.

A graduate of the University of Michigan law school, Judge Cowing had been a member of the Will County Bar Association for the past 41 years.

The county court also had jurisdiction in tax objections.

Judge Cowing would have served 20 years on the bench had he lived until November, 1966.

Besides his wife, the former Gwen Spangler, Judge Cowing is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Constance Wirt, and a sister, Mrs. Luella Newton.
